Revolutionists' Leader Say They Will Make Move Necessary.

PALMA AND CABINET WILL RESIGN

American Settlement Will Follow Shortly Thereafter—
Two More Cruisers Arrived At Havana
This Morning.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
New Orleans, La., Sept. 22.—A dispatch from Havana to the Daily Picayune today gives a signed statement by an insurgent leader, General Ernesto Asbert, in which he says that if peace is not made by the Palma administration the revolutionists propose to attack "all property," in order to precipitate American intervention.
Two More Cruisers
Havana, Sept. 22.—The United States cruisers Minneapolis and Newark arrived this morning.
Intervention on Sept. 25
American intervention is expected later, probably on Sept. 25.
Resignations Today
A Cuban congressman, whose relations with the administration are exceedingly close, asserted this morning that President Palma and the members of his cabinet would resign today and that intervention is expected shortly.
Get Palma's Idea
The propositions made by moderates last night have considerably changed the situation, having paved the way for suggestions by Taft and Bacon for further concessions on both sides which may yet save the republic intact. Taft and Bacon, accompanied by Consul General Steinhart and Captain McCoy, called on President Palma this morning and got his idea on what he was willing should be done under the circumstances. "This afternoon they will listen to the views of a number of prominent insurgents and liberals."
Ready for War
Washington, D. C., Sept. 22.—The war department officials professed to know nothing of the situation in Cuba beyond what they have seen in the press dispatches, but it is known that preparations for the possible occupation of Cuba are rapidly going on.

TUESDAY'S MEETING WILL BE MORE THAN INTERESTING

What Will Be Accomplished At Madison As
To State Platform Is Interesting To Conjecture.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Madison, Wis., Sept. 22.—The nominees of four political parties will assemble in the capitol here today, Tuesday, in compliance with the primary election law, for the purpose of formulating their platforms with which to go before the people in the coming campaign. The conventions will be composed of the nominees for state offices and seats in the legislature, and the hold-over senators. Three of the conventions—those of the democratic, prohibition and social democratic parties—are expected to be the mild affairs, but that of the republicans will assuredly prove exciting. It will be a struggle of the La Follette organization to maintain prestige notwithstanding the rebuff received in the recent primary election, when T. L. Lenroot, the La Follette gubernatorial candidate, was overwhelmingly defeated by Governor James O. Davidson.
As the result of conferences held at the country home of Senator La Follette a week ago, a definite program of action was determined upon. The custodians and chief manager of this program is Herman L. Ekern of Trempealeau county, one of the La Follette leaders in the last several sessions of the legislature and the candidate of that faction for speaker of the next assembly. He has written to the legislative nominees and other members of the faction who will be in the convention, asking them not to make any pledges until they have seen him here at a hotel Monday and learned what he has to tell them. Work of similar kind, rounding up the La Follette members of the convention, has also been done by personal work by John J. Hannan, private secretary of Senator La Follette, and by A. T. Rogers, formerly executive clerk for La Follette. The Davidson-Connor faction has also settled upon a program, and by directions of W. D. Connor, chairman of the state central committee and nominee for lieutenant governor, letters to the convention members have been sent out from the governor's office asking the delegates not to make any pledges until they have seen the governor. How effective the rival camps have been in this rounding up process cannot be guessed until Tuesday, but the advantage seems to be with the Davidson-Connor people. There is not much difference in platform plans, but each side wants to do the writing of the platform, and the La Follette side is inclined to more radical reform declarations than are the others.

The experiments, his season were made by Benjamin Miller, one of the most successful farmers in Eastern Indiana. He planted twenty acres and secured labor from the south that had been trained in tobacco culture. FOOTBALL SEASON OPENS MINOR COLLEGES PLAYING

Big Universities Do Not Begin Schedules For Week Or More—Some New Plays Explained.

[Special to The Gazette.]
FOOTBALL PLAYS UNDER NEW RULES.
New York, Sept. 22.—Football for the season of 1906 makes its appearance today with a few contests among minor colleges. The big universities will begin their season a week or so later. The football rules in their revised form are to be given their first practical test and coaches, players and the general public are waiting to see what the season will bring forth. It is certain that about everything has been done along college lines to improve the great colloquial sport, and the season's play should be clean and fair.
In summing up the outlook of the big teams of the east it may be said that they are on more even terms at the start than they were a year ago. All of the "Big Five" have lost several veterans, but the losses are almost equally severe in each case. Yale and Harvard are the heaviest losers, while the prospects at the University of Pennsylvania, Princeton and Cornell are reported unusually bright.
At Wisconsin
Madison, Wis., Sept. 22.—Football practice at the University of Wisconsin will begin next Wednesday, but it will be several days before Director C. P. Hutchins will have the preparation of his team under way. Wisconsin has a new order of things athletic this fall and only one old player has returned for the team of the gridiron. He is Geback, last year's right guard, and will be captain. The only other promising candidate at present in sight is Ed. Boyle, star and captain of the Eau Claire high school team which for three or four years has won the state championship. He is also a crack basketball player and track athlete.
The first announcement to come from the Wisconsin athletic authorities this fall with reference to football was that those who desired to play the game would have to maintain strict training discipline. This is believed necessary to the abolishment of the training table. Close scrutiny will be maintained over the players and any who violate instructions with reference to late hours and irregular habits will be summarily dropped from the squad. It is held at Madison to be more desirable to live true to the letter and spirit of the new intercollegiate football agreement regarding training tables than it is to develop a strong eleven. Last spring an informal training table was tolerated for the crew men. They voluntarily went into an arrangement to board at one place and have a special training menu served, the result being practically a training table, although it was not paid for in any part by the athletic association. It is said that no such thing will be allowed this fall, but the men will have to go to bed at an early hour and will be abjured to abstain from eating pastry and other foods not conducive to the best physical condition. Another requirement will be that football players will have to register much the same as though football were a course of study rather than a voluntary exercise. Regularity of attendance upon practice and the faithfulness shown in following the other directions and suggestions of the physical directors, Dr. C. Elsom and E. D. Angell, will place in the selection of the team. Critics here laugh at the new order of things as ridiculous, if a good team is to be produced, but the faculty makes no claim that a championship is desired this year even among the few secondary teams to be played.

COLORADO PEOPLE WILL HONOR MEMORY OF PIKE

Week of Festivities Planned At Colorado Springs to Observe Centennial Of Big Peak's Discovery.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Colorado Springs, Colo., Sept. 22.—The people of Colorado Springs have completed preparations for the celebration next week of the 10th anniversary of the discovery of Pike's Peak. The date of the celebration anticipates by two months the actual centennial anniversary, the change being made because the weather conditions at this time of the year are more favorable to outdoor festivities than later in the year.
It was on November 26, 1806, that Pike, attempted the ascent of the mountain which bears his name. His was the first military and the second exploring expedition ever sent out by the United States government, and its object was to learn something about the territory recently acquired by the Louisiana purchase. With a little party of private soldiers and others, Pike started from St. Louis, Mo., Sept. 15, 1806. After long travel and numerous hardships the condition of the little party was becoming rather desperate when, on November 15, the "Mexican mountains" were sighted from the banks of the Arkansas river in what is now western Kansas. Three cheers were given and Pike determined to press on to the "great white peak." The nearest the party came to the peak was on November 27, when Pike and two followers climbed to the top of a mountain some fifteen miles from the peak. Pike wrote in his diary that the great white mountain appeared to be as high again as the mountain he had climbed and that it would be impossible for a human being to reach the summit.
As Captain Pike made his expedition to this region under the auspices of the army, a large detachment of United States troops has been detailed to take part in the celebration of the coming week. The various tribes of Indians that inhabit the Rocky mountains at the time of Pike's visit also will be represented by liberal delegations. These include Arapahoes, Utes, Cheyennes, Comanches and others.
The complete program arranged for the centennial is as follows:
Monday—Military day. A parade will be held in the morning of United States troops, cavalry, artillery and infantry; Grand Army veterans, Spanish, Indian, state militia, cowboys, warriors, etc. In the afternoon patriotic exercises will be held in the opera house under the auspices of the week.
Tuesday—Pioneer day. Vice President Fairbanks will deliver an address in North park at 10:30 a. m. The pioneer societies of the state will hold exercises at Stratton park with a band concert for the evening feature. Congressman and Mrs. Franklin E. Brooks will give a public reception in honor of Vice President and Mrs. Fairbanks. Indian dances will be given at the Indian camp at Broadmoor.
Wednesday—Historical day. The Pike tablet on the summit of Pike's peak will be formally unveiled, under the auspices of Colorado college. Historical exercises will be held in the afternoon under the college auspices at Perkins hall. The breakfast luncheon by the women's executive committee will be given in the Antlers hotel at noon, and a reception of patriotic and learned societies will be given in the evening.
Thursday—Pike day. A massive granite memorial to Captain Pike will be unveiled in Antlers park. The "Ode to Colorado," composed by C. I. Pike, a grand-nephew of the soldier-explorer, will be sung for the first time by a trained chorus of 1,000 voices. The military review will take place in the afternoon with a banquet at the Antlers hotel in the evening.
Friday—Colorado day. A parade in the forenoon will be followed by a reception to the distinguished visitors. Fireworks, band concerts and a banquet of the Colorado Bar association will be features of the evening program.
Saturday—Centennial day. Military maneuvers will be followed by the formal breaking of military, Indian and cowboy camps in the afternoon. Band concerts will be given at North park in the afternoon and at Manitou in the evening.
In addition to Vice President Fairbanks, the distinguished speakers during the centennial will include Senators Warren, Scott and Teller, Representative Brooks and Charles Buchtel of Denver university, a number of prominent army officers and officers of the government will be present and take part in the exercises of the week.

IT'S YOUR KIDNEYS.

Don't Mistake the Cause of Your Trouble—A Janesville Citizen Shows How to Cure Them.

Many people never suspect their kidneys. If suffering from a lame, weak or aching back, they think it is only a muscular weakness, when urinary trouble sets in they think it will soon correct itself. And so it is with all the other symptoms of kidney disorders. That is just where the danger lies. You must cure these troubles or they lead to diabetes or Bright's disease. The best remedy to use is Doan's Kidney Pills. It cures all ills which are caused by weak or diseased kidneys. Janesville people testify to permanent cures.

Mrs. Annie Kohlhorst, of 230 Cherry St., Janesville, Wis., says: "Since using Doan's Kidney Pills some years ago for kidney troubles and backache I have had no hesitation in recommending them to every sufferer I have met. I had used remedy after remedy and tried plasters and did everything I knew of for these complaints, but the trouble grew continually worse, and was fast undermining my general health. About 7 years ago I was in a very bad condition, and it was at that time that I learned of Doan's Kidney Pills and got a box at the Peoples' Drug Co. and began using them. Good results followed quickly and a continued treatment brought me a complete cure. I have never had any kidney trouble since I used Doan's Kidney Pills." For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. TWO YEARS OF MEDICAL COURSE

WILL BE TAUGHT AT WISCONSIN UNIVERSITY.

NEW DEPARTMENT ADDED

Johns Hopkins' Associate Professor to Teach Physiology—Pharmacology and Pathology Coming.
 (Special to THE GAZETTE.)

Madison, Wis., Sept. 22.—Beginning with the present year, students in the pre-medical course at the University of Wisconsin will be able to do over half of the work of the first two years of the curriculum of the best medical schools of the country. This is made possible by the recent establishment of the department of physiology, of which Dr. Joseph Ellinger, recent associate professor of physiology at Johns Hopkins medical school, is to be the head. New courses in physiological chemistry have also been added and will be in charge of Dr. C. C. Bradley, who has been directing the work in physiological chemistry at the Yale medical school. It is planned in the near future to establish a department of pharmacology and pathology, so that the entire first two years of the medical curriculum may be taken at the University of Wisconsin. A graduate of the university can then go to any of the leading medical schools and there complete in two years the clinical portion of the medical study necessary for the degree of doctor of medicine.

Pre-Medical Training in Science.
 The development of these courses preparatory to the study of clinical medicine is a result of the demand for thorough training in science as preparation for medical students. Modern scientific medicine consists of the application of physics, chemistry, and the biological sciences to the study of the prevention and cure of disease. The remarkable advance made during the last half century in medicine and surgery has been due largely to the discoveries by chemists and physicists. The modern science of bacteriology, for example, which has changed so completely the conception of disease and enlarged the powers of controlling it, owes much of its most important development to the chemist, Pasteur. The Roentgen ray and radium, which have proved of great value in the diagnosis and treatment of disease, where the discoveries of physicist Roentgen and chemist Becquerel and the Curies. Biological investigators made possible the discovery of the part played by insects in the transmission of disease, and which in turn has made possible the control of malaria and yellow fever. The application of chemistry to the study of disease bids fair to make the medicine of the next fifty years advance even faster than it has during the last half century. A thorough laboratory training in the basic sciences of physics, chemistry, and biology is therefore generally recognized as essential for those who desire to fit themselves properly to understand modern medicine and keep up with its advance.

New Pre-Medical Courses.
 A special bulletin recently issued by the university on "Courses Preparatory to the Study of Clinical Medicine" shows that the university now offers courses not only in physics, chemistry, and general biology, necessary for a study of medicine, but also in a considerable number of those sciences which constitute the first half of the medical curriculum. Research work of value to medicine has likewise been carried on in the departments in which these courses are offered.

Study of Anatomy.
 The department of anatomy is thoroughly equipped to teach both comparative vertebrate anatomy, gross and microscopic human anatomy, and embryology. The respect in which this department is held is indicated by the considerable number of students who come to the university during the recent summer session from a leading eastern medical school to do advanced work in anatomy. Professor Bardeen, who is at the head of the department, is a member of the executive committee of the Association of American Anatomists, and is one of the editors of the American Journal of Anatomy. Dr. W. S. Miller, associate professor in the department, has an international reputation because of his researches on the structure of the lung.

Bacteriology.
 The department of bacteriology is one of the best in the country. None of the medical schools require so thorough a course in bacteriology as that given to "pre-medical" students in this department. Professor H. L. Russell, the head of this department, and director of the State Hygienic Laboratory, has been actively identified with many lines of bacteriological research.

New Department of Physiology.
 A department of physiology has recently been established and thoroughly equipped for teaching and investigation. Dr. Joseph Ellinger, recently associate professor of physiology at the Johns Hopkins medical school, has been placed at the head of this new department. Professor Ellinger is regarded as one of the most brilliant physiologists in the country. His studies on the circulation of the blood and the action of the heart have produced not only of great scientific value, but also of direct use to practitioners of medicine. For the present physiological chemistry will be given in this department by assistant professor, Dr. C. C. Bradley, who has been in charge of physiological chemistry at the Yale medical school and has published papers of great merit.

Charcoal Kills Bad Breath

Bad Odor of Indigestion, Smoking, Drinking or Eating Can Be Instantly Stopped.

Sample Package Mailed Free.

Other people notice your bad breath where you would not notice it all. It is nauseating to other people, stand before them while you are talking, give them a whiff or two of your bad breath. It usually comes from food fermenting on your stomach. Sometimes you have it in the morning, that awful sour, bilious, bad breath. You can stop that at once by swallowing one or two Stuart's Charcoal Lozenges, the most powerful gas and odor absorbers ever prepared.

Sometimes your meals will reveal themselves in your breath to those you talk to you. You've had "indigestion," or of a sudden you belch in the face of your friend. Charcoal is a wonderful absorber of odors, as every one knows. That is why Stuart's Charcoal Lozenges are quick to stop all gas from indigestion.

Don't use breath perfumes. They never conceal the odor, and never absorb the gas that causes the odor. Besides, the very fact of using them reveals the reason for the use Stuart's Charcoal Lozenges in the first place. Stop for good all sour breath and belching of gas and make your breath pure, fresh and sweet, just after you've eaten. Then no one will turn his face away from you when you breathe or talk; your breath will be pure and fresh, and besides your food will taste so much better to you at your next meal. Just try it.

Charcoal does other wonderful things; too, it carries away from your stomach and intestines, all the impurities there massed together and which causes the bad breath. Charcoal is a purifier as well as an absorber.

Before The Footlights.

MISS LOVETT, WHO IS COMING IN "THE LION AND THE MOUSE"

There is more new and illuminating baseball slang omitted in one short, five-minute scene in "The Umpire" than the average "fun" is able to accumulate in a lifetime. The scene occurs near the beginning of the play and is dominated by the umpire who relates in a most graphic and argot the incidents of the game wherein he gave a rank decision and was fallen upon and cast out by the indignant crowd. Under the rough surface of the story there is pretty sentiment, however, for it tells how a flash from a pair of brown eyes in the grandstand caused him to look the wrong way at a close play and call the runner "out." Instead of "safe." The romantic side of "The Umpire" is provided by that unlucky man and the owner of the brown eyes. Manager Askin's company will play in Janesville this evening. A notable performance is assured since the leading roles are in the hands of such capable actors as Fred Mace, Gusma Baker, Edith Westington, Harry Hamilton, Margaret MacDonald, Helena Sullivan and others. The "broilers" named from Portland to Portland as the most agile and graceful group of ball dancing beauties that ever did a jig step will be in evidence as an important feature of the chorus of 50. "The Umpire" ran 250 times in Chicago and is looked for a return engagement at the Grand opera-house.

FRED MACE AS "THE UMPIRE." A S HE WILL BE SEEN AT MYERS' OPERA-HOUSE THIS EVENING.

There will be no advance in prices for the production here of "The Lion and the Mouse." Charles Klein's greatest play, which Henry B. Harris will produce at the Myers Grand theatre Tuesday, Sept. 25.

The theme which Mr. Klein has taken for this drama is most pertinent to the present day when every one is keenly alive to the machination of trusts and kings of finance. Indeed it may be said that "The Lion and the Mouse" displays the excellent judgment shown by Mr. Klein in presenting a phase of American life with which the public has become familiar through the newspapers and magazines of the country. He depicts the king of finance as he is, robbed of all melodramatic attributes. In opposition to him he places an equally true figure of American womanhood. It is their struggle with the final victory for the girl which constitutes the basis upon which this powerful drama of emotion is built. The extraordinary success of the play is well known. Its presentation here cannot but excite the widest interest. Seat sale is announced for Monday morning at nine o'clock.

Lew Hunting assisted by Miss Mollie John and Tony Hunting have added some big features to their funny musical comedy "The Fool House" which comes to the Myers Wednesday, Sept. 26. This year there is a first class acting company and a big chorus. The costumes are dreams of the dressmaker's art and were built under the supervision of Miss Mollie Hunting. An entirely new scenic dressing has been provided, while the piece, still retaining the laugh-producing points, has been re-written by Harry Dull and Lew Hunting, and new dialogue and musical numbers added, making it the greatest musical comedy out this season.

An absolutely novel effect in the production of "The Love Route" which comes to the Myers Grand on Thursday, Sept. 27, is the construction of a railroad across the stage. "The Property list" of the company includes an item of ten tons of soil. This is used in the third act, during the course of which a gang of workmen lays ties and rails and the climax of the scene witnesses the rushing of a huge engine, twelve feet high and thirty-six feet in length, across the stage. This is only one of the several striking features that will be introduced in this new play by the author of "The Prince Chap."

..Forty Years Ago..

Janesville Daily Gazette, September 22, 1866.—Sermons to the Laboring Men.—The pastor of the Congregational church will on tomorrow evening commence a series of sermons to laboring men and they are specially invited to attend.

Fire Last Night.—A fire broke out about nine o'clock last evening in the residence of Mr. S. H. Gish, corner of Franklin and Center streets. When the fire was first discovered it was located near a stovepipe which went through the floor, and was burning vigorously. The alarm was at once given and the furniture mainly moved from the house with little damage. The fire department was promptly on hand and the building was mostly saved though the roof was badly injured. The property was insured.

Accident to Mr. Pember.—During the fire last evening, and while he was assisting in removing the furniture from the house of Mr. Gish, Mr. T. R. Pember had the misfortune to dislocate his left shoulder. He was taken home and surgical skill reduced the dislocation. It was a painful injury but will be only temporary inconvenience.

The Academy of Design.—After a great deal of persistence and hard labor, Mr. Barker has his academy of design in complete order. It is a most attractive place, and if the character of the work emanating from it corresponds with the rooms it will soon obtain a reputation beyond our city. People who visit this city during the fair should not fail to visit these rooms. They are unequalled for beauty and extent by anything in the Northwest.

OUR SATURDAY NIGHT

A boy was arrested not long ago

for stealing a coat that hung in front of a clothing store. His only defense was that he needed the coat, had no money to buy it with and so took it.

The question of conscience and violation of law did not appear to trouble him in the least.

In the same court a trusted employee was being examined for embezzlement. His conscience, like that boy's, caused him no uneasiness. Small pay and the demands of a large family were the reasons offered in defense of the act.

The records of prisons and reformatories reveal the fact that sorrow for crime is not largely in evidence, and that the conscience of criminals is so generally seared that it causes

but little uneasiness.

Much discussion is going on these days about degeneracy and the claim is made in some quarters that depravity of this kind is not inher-ed.

Be that as it may, it is not inher-

ed. It is readily acquired, and the accomplishment is not confined to the criminal classes.

When the life insurance investigation was started two years ago the men at the head of these great cor-day has its full quota of reform

speakers and writers.

The result has been a wave of enthusiasm which has engulfed the masses to such an extent that many people have been carried off their feet until the belief is quite common today that America is the hotbed of corruption.

The "Treasure of the Senate," "The Villainy of Rockefeller," "The Grinding Monopoly," and "The Oppression of Corporate Wealth" have been subjects of household discussion, while any school boy is supposed to know more about railroads and rate regulation than the best informed railway official.

The President a few months ago made the discovery which was apparent to all thinking people that the reform movement was being overdone, so he took to task a certain class of writers whose principal mission was to defame character at so much per line and dubbed them

"muck-rakers," a title which will stick to them for at least a generation.

The publishers employing this class of writers soon found that their wares were not in demand, and the reform movement took a turn among the reformers. The people of a community or commonwealth may be corrupt, but they don't want to read about it in cold type even when the inspiration behind it is from so talented a prevalent as E. Lincoln

Steffens.

The wickedness of John D. Rockefeller may be all that is painted, but the recital becomes a little monotonous even when delivered in the dulcet tones of Ida May Tarbell.

The senate may be treacherous and the American people may be fools for selecting such representatives, but they don't want to be told so by Ray

Stannard Baker. So Steffens, Tarbell

and Baker found themselves out of a job one fine morning in June.

The boss reformer of Wisconsin has been told by the people of the state that they will attempt to get along without him for a time, but undaunted he goes forth to reform other states and keep himself in condition for the larger task of reforming the United States senate next winter.

The pendulum is swinging back before the campaign of 1908 normal conditions will obtain. The spasm which has been followed by epidemic will subside and people will take time to appreciate the fact that honesty is a common virtue possessed and practiced by a large majority of the human race.

The public conscience has been enlightened by education and as a result many abuses have been corrected. The class distinction and class hatred engendered will subside, and the crop of socialism will be too meagre to harvest.

It is always well to remember that the stars and stripes float over the best land that the sun shines upon,

and the man who enjoys the blessings of American citizenship possesses an inheritance of priceless value.

DRAWING THE LINE

Are you puzzled to draw the line between reasonable competition and trade anarchy, asks the Wall Street

Journal. Just ask Mr. Bryan. Are you eager to find the line between reasonable combination and trade monopoly? Just inquire of Mr. Bryan.

Do you want to know where the line should be drawn between wholesome government regulation of the corporations and dangerous government interference with private enterprise? Just ask Mr. Bryan and he will tell you all about it. Is your special difficulty the drawing of a line of Colby, first made the discovery and

Senator La Follette is on the ground assuring the people that Colby holds a commission from God Almighty.

Colby appears to be a modest man.

Had he been like Dowie it would not have been necessary to import the Wisconsin Moses to herald the fact of his divine appointment.

If Colby and his trumpeter had broken loose in Greater New York

instead of little New Jersey there would be less skepticism for New York always needs reforming and the Lord's emissaries are in great demand, but New Jersey, like Wisconsin, is a sort of Garden of Eden paradise.

It required a La Follette to discover the hoof prints of the cloven foot, just as it required a Colby to make the same discovery in New Jersey.

That both men are inspired is no longer a debatable question, for Colby has the assurance of a man who knows, and there has never been any doubt about La Follette. With two virtuous emissaries of this kind in the political field the day of the millennium approaches. New Jersey will be ready for translation when the state secures a primary law and Colby with his side partner can hike over to New York and tackle the strongholds of Satan.

The high price of tobacco indicates that the acreage will be largely increased next year. The county raised 12,000 acres a year ago and there is no reason why it should not exceed this amount in 1907.

The primary law slipped several cogs in the new reform machine and may succeed in putting it out of commission. The Mary Ann amendment might have saved it.

If McGovern of Milwaukee don't run independent for the office of district attorney it won't be the fault of the organ or the inspiration behind it.

Secretary Root is making a record

as a diplomat in the South American islands. He has already made the record of a statesman at home.

FELL DEAD OF HEART FAILURE

HON. HAMILTON RICHARDSON SUGGUMED SUDDENLY THIS MORNING.

WAS IN HIS USUAL HEALTH

Former Postmaster, Three Times State Senator and One of the City's Most Prominent Business Men.

Hon. Hamilton Richardson died suddenly of heart failure at his home, 107 Prospect avenue, shortly after seven o'clock this morning. Mr. Richardson rose this morning in his usual health and was waiting for breakfast when stricken. Other members of the family heard a noise in the room where he was and opening the door found Mr. Richardson lying on the floor. Dr. W. H. Judd, Dr. Farnsworth and Dr. Mills were immediately summoned but death had occurred before they arrived.

A Most Honored Citizen.
The deceased had been one of Janesville's most prominent residents and active citizens since the early days. He came here and engaged in business in 1846 and with the exception of five years spent in California during the gold rush and another year spent in Europe, his home was here. He had lived in Janesville. He had been associated with mercantile and manufacturing enterprises; he assisted in raising the thirteenth Wisconsin volunteer infantry which served with much gallantry in the war of the rebellion; he was connected with many war committees; he served one term as postmaster here; he was three times a member of the state senate, where he became one of the recognized leaders and had always been an active republican, known throughout Wisconsin and leading in county affairs. His demise removes from the city one of her staunchest and most honored builders.

Was Nearly Eighty-six.
Born to Mr. and Mrs. William Richardson of Genesee county, N. Y., on October 17, 1820, Hamilton Richardson was of scotch ancestry with strains of English and Mohawk blood in his veins. His father was a son of William Richardson, who served as an aid-de-camp on the staff of Gen. Putnam during the revolution and died "full of years and honors." William, Jr., married Mary Pierson and five of their thirteen children survive Hamilton. They are Miss Mary Richardson of LeRoy, N. Y.; Mrs. Martha Conklin, widow of Elihu Conklin of Moravia, N. Y.; R. J. Richardson of this city; Mrs. Eliza Buckingham, widow of Thomas Buckingham of Vacaville, California; and Mrs. Ellen White of LeRoy, N. Y.

Attended the district school until the age of fifteen was the early education of Hamilton Richardson. He then left the farm and entered the employ of a merchant firm. This company emigrated to Michigan, just after it had been admitted to the union, and Mr. Richardson accompanied as an employee. A location was made in Genesee county, and there these New Yorkers laid out the town of Flint, which is now a thriving city on the Flint river, across which the same people built the first dam. They established the first saw mill, the first store and the first bank in the county and for a time enjoyed prosperity, but the financial panic of 1837 swallowed up the concern. Mr. Richardson had been closely connected with the company and the lesson was a valuable one. Ever after he exhibited the care and conservatism taught, yet there was no lack of American aggressiveness.

To Janesville in 1846.
In 1840 Mr. Richardson went back to his New York home and there entered an academy. He studied for two years but the longing for the west overcame his desire for scholarly learning and he went to Milwaukee in the spring of 1842. He was employed first as a commercial book-keeper and then in 1844 went to Racine to engage in retail hardware business. He was not pleased with the field, and selling out came to Janesville and again in 1846 opened a hardware store. Four years later, in company with Mr. Truesdell, he built the Excelsior mills, later known as the Hudson mills. The move was unfortunate as he and then, flood destroyed his property completely. Dull times, financial failures, caused Mr. Richardson to weaken in middle-western enthusiasm and he constructed the California gold fever.

Success in California.
He emigrated to Marysville, at the navigation head of Feather river in the Golden State and established a mercantile house, selling supplies to miners and traders. Much success was his for four years, as Marysville was an important trade center. His business compelled him to take long trips over the mountains and while on one of these trips he was held up and robbed by Joaquin's famous band of highwaymen. He narrowly escaped with his life. Mr. Richardson extended his activities beyond mercantile limits and helped organize a company that operated a line of steamers on inland rivers, in opposition to a monopoly that was squeezing extortionate rates from the people. He served as a heavy stockholder and thus five years were spent on the Pacific slope. Returning to Janesville he re-entered the business field here, acquiring extensive real estate interests, resuming mercantile trade and becoming a stockholder in various other business enterprises. Among them were the New Doty Works, of which his son, Victor P. Richardson, is now president. The Janesville Cotton Mills and the First National Bank in which he was many years a director, being first elected a director at a special meeting, June 24, 1894.

On County Insane Hospitals.
Prior to the civil war Mr. Richardson was a democrat but he was a true northerner and he joined the republican ranks. During the strife he contributed both time and money in large quantities toward the raising of troops. He was one of the committee of three which raised the thirteenth Wisconsin infantry and was an active member of nearly every war committee in the city. His services placed him at the head of the unionists and in 1864 the republicans won a democratic election to the legislature. In 1868 he was chosen a county commissioner and was on the public buildings committee of the present Rock county court house. Twice thereafter he was selected a county supervisor and in 1876 greater honors were placed upon his shoulder, being chosen to the state senate and serving until 1882. In the senate Mr. Richardson became a prominent member and was famous for his reforms in the management of state penal and charitable institutions. His bill placed these under a board of control and another of his measure provided for the joint state and county care and control of the chronic insane not otherwise provided for. One of his most memorable addresses was an eulogy on Matthew Hale Carpenter. He was on many important committees and considered a party leader.

Marriage and Family.
On August 9, 1858, Mr. Richardson and Miss Caroline A. Pease were married. She was the daughter of Judge Lorrain T. Pease of Hartford, Conn., and a sister of the Hon. J. R. Pease, a prominent citizen of Janesville some years ago. On their honeymoon Mr. and Mrs. Richardson went abroad, spending about a year in Europe. They are the parents of six children, five sons and one daughter—Victor P. Richardson, ex-mayor and president of the New Doty Manufacturing company; Sarah M. Richardson, unmarried, of this city; Hamilton P. Richardson, a lawyer in Chicago; John Richardson, a resident of Chicago; Marshall P. Richardson, a local attorney at law, and Lorrain T. Richardson, a captain of the Twenty-second infantry, U. S. A., stationed near Seattle.

Hamilton Richardson was a Mason, belonging to Western Star Lodge, number 14, A. F. & A. M., Janesville Chapter, number 6, R. A. M., and Janesville Commandery, Knights Templars.

Mrs. Bridget Davie.
After an illness of a year and a half Mrs. Bridget Davie passed away at her home, 304 South Jackson street, yesterday afternoon. The deceased had been a resident of this city for half a century and was well known with a host of esteemers and respecting friends. She was widely and many-extended children, one daughter and two sons—Mrs. Mary Irwin of Janesville and Patrick and James of Chicago.

CLOSING QUARTERLY CHURCH CONFERENCE

Rev. J. H. Tippet invited for Sixth Year of Pastorate—Has Accomplished Much in City.

The closing quarterly conference of the year was held at the Cargill Memorial Methodist church last evening. The organ, which is now being installed at a cost of some $6,000, completes the edifice, making it one of the most modern church buildings in the state.

The pastor, Rev. J. H. Tippet, has just completed a five-year pastorate and during that time the two Methodist churches have been consolidated. He has worked unflinchingly for the success of the new church building and by a vote of the conference was invited to serve the church another year.

A Methodist preacher never knows what is in store for him until the bishop and his cabinet decide on the appointments. The many friends of Mr. Tippet will be pleased to have him remain and he will undoubtedly be permitted to do so, unless the demands of some other church are more urgent.

LOCAL OWNERS WILL RETAIN THE BAXTER

Option Secured by Northern Capitalists Has Run Out and Will Not Be Extended.

J. M. Bostwick, George S. Parker, W. F. Palmer and S. B. Lewis still own the Baxter Mine. Not only do they own it, but unless someone with the ready cash comes along to fit their price, they will not dispose of it. Some months ago a syndicate was formed of Calumet, Ironwood and Houghton, Michigan, mining men to take over the mine for six hundred thousand dollars, capitalizing it at a million and run it to the fullest extent possible. The option on this deal expired Sept. 6th and the owners of the Baxter did not see fit to renew it, although they were asked to. George S. Parker said this afternoon that the mine today looked twenty-five per cent better than it ever did before and that unless someone came along with the money in their hands to buy it the local owners would continue to hold and operate it themselves. The property is considered one of the best in the western part of the state and will probably be retained by the local company.

Mrs. Anna Moulthroppe has returned from a few days' visit in Edgerton. Miss Elsie Taylor is spending the day in Rockford.

Mrs. C. H. Bliven and Miss Violet Bliven of Edgerton visited in the city Wednesday.

Mrs. Frank Hudson and Mrs. Blaisdell of Milton, are visiting Mrs. C. D. Capelle.

Exciting Ball Game Took Place at Eagle Park This Afternoon—Score Book Lost.

If the patrons of the Opera-House tonight watch Fred Mace, "the Umpire," go through his gyrations closely they will notice he is a trifle lame; that he closely resembles the amblings of an old cow as he prances about the stage. It is not Mace's fault; it is all due to the fact he umpired a ball game this afternoon between the members of "The Umpire" Company and nine local players. Even though Mace carried a cane, given him by the warden of Stillwater penitentiary, the same one that was used to make the James boys and Cole Younger stand around when they were prisoners there, his decisions caused so much comment that he had to sidestep, considerable, to avoid "things." The game in itself was interesting. Garbed in the cast-off uniforms of the Freeport Wisconsin state league team the nine players of "The Umpire" Company put up a pretty exhibition of how ball ought to have been played. The locals played well throughout, but unfortunately they did not keep their hands on the score book, so the result will never be really known. Mace, "The Umpire," is an old football player of the University of Pennsylvania. He played when Pennsylvania had the team of the east, the premier of the whole country, and later he handled, and coached, several other winning teams. Aside from his ability as an actor he could earn his living as either a physician or a dentist, having graduated in both departments. Sometimes he plays ball himself, but more often he umpires, protecting and enforcing his decisions with a huge crooked cane.

If the patrons of the Opera-House tonight watch Fred Mace, "the Umpire," go through his gyrations closely they will notice he is a trifle lame; that he closely resembles the amblings of an old cow as he prances about the stage. It is not Mace's fault; it is all due to the fact he umpired a ball game this afternoon between the members of "The Umpire" Company and nine local players.

Even though Mace carried a cane, given him by the warden of Stillwater penitentiary, the same one that was used to make the James boys and Cole Younger stand around when they were prisoners there, his decisions caused so much comment that he had to sidestep, considerable, to avoid "things." The game in itself was interesting. Garbed in the cast-off uniforms of the Freeport Wisconsin state league team the nine players of "The Umpire" Company put up a pretty exhibition of how ball ought to have been played. The locals played well throughout, but unfortunately they did not keep their hands on the score book, so the result will never be really known. Mace, "The Umpire," is an old football player of the University of Pennsylvania. He played when Pennsylvania had the team of the east, the premier of the whole country, and later he handled, and coached, several other winning teams. Aside from his ability as an actor he could earn his living as either a physician or a dentist, having graduated in both departments. Sometimes he plays ball himself, but more often he umpires, protecting and enforcing his decisions with a huge crooked cane.

Local Patrolman Arrested Youth of Fifteen Wanted at Industrial School in Waukesha.

Officer Bear last evening captured a youth of fifteen by the name of Bailey, who is wanted at the State Industrial school in Waukesha, for breaking parole and has been evading the careful eyes of policemen in many southern Wisconsin cities. The lad has been sought for a month past and hundreds of descriptions were scattered about. Finally a boy answering these appeared in the city a few days ago and last night Patrolman Bear discovered him sleeping in a barn on High street. Today Chief Appleby telephoned to the Industrial school and the captive will be taken thither today.

Career of Champion Joe Gans

He Began Fighting In 1894--Has Won 114 Bouts.

Challenges Are Now Hurdled at Him From All Sides.

By his recent sensational victory over Battling Nelson for the world's lightweight championship Joe Gans of Baltimore again evidenced that he is one of the most remarkable fighters that ever lived.

He is the Jim Jeffries of the lightweight world in spite of the fact that he has lived a life that many people would describe as dissipated. Gans is now being showered with challenges from every Tom, Dick and Harry that can reach 135 pounds in training, but the three leading candidates are Nelson, Jimmy Britt and the has been Terry McGovern.

Joe Gans was born at Baltimore Nov. 25, 1876, and he is therefore nearly thirty years old. He began fighting in 1894 at the age of eighteen. He stands five feet six and a quarter inches and weighs now 130 pounds.

From his debut with Dave Armstrong at Baltimore in 1894 to his appearance in the ring with Battling Nelson he piled up a total of 146 ring battles.

Of these he won a total of 114--forty-eight by knockouts, sixty-one by referees' decisions and five on fouls. He lost six fights--one by knockout and five by referees' decisions. There were twelve draws, thirteen "no decisions" and one fight stopped.

Gans has won over 73 per cent of all his fights of every nature, being 114 of the 146. Eliminate from the computation twelve draws, thirteen "no decisions," four fouls and one "stopped fight" and he has won 110 out of 114.

The man who knocked Gans out was George McFadden at New York April 14, 1898. Gans won practically all his fights in Philadelphia, but is not accredited with them for the reason that the Quaker City seldom allows a decision. Some of Gans' fights follow:

Baseball Gossip Down to Date

Will Hughey Jennings Succeed Lajoie--Records For Consecutive Wins.

There seems to be only one thing sure about the future of the Baltimore manager, Hughey Jennings, the once great shortstop. That is that he will wind up somewhere in the American league next year.

Recent reports to the effect that Jennings was booked to go with either Detroit or Boston were branded as fakes by the Orioles manager in an interview in Newark, N. J., recently. "These reports are not true," said Jennings, "but you can say that this is my last season with Baltimore and that next year I will be in the American league. This talk of my going to Boston or Detroit is all bosh."

Jennings assumed a reticent attitude when asked as to what team he was going to pilot. He admitted that Ban Johnson had matters all fixed up with Ned Hanlon for his transfer from Baltimore, but said it would be a violation of confidence on his part if he named the club to which he was going. Recent developments in Cleveland it is generally supposed that he will succeed Larry Lajoie, as team leader of that club, although it would not be surprising if he was given a berth with the New York Yankees.

In Cleveland recently a shout went up for the club to secure Bill Armour of the Detroit, but it is a settled fact that Armour will be in charge of affairs at Detroit next season. In Cleveland of late there has been a spirit of unrest, brought about over the numerous setbacks of the team.

Although Lajoie is not held responsible for this state of affairs, it is the general feeling that better results can be got out of the team by a coaching manager. When Jennings was asked if Cleveland has his prospective berth he simply smiled.

A world's record for continuous baseball victories was made by the Houston club of the Texas league in 1900, with twenty-four straight victories.

In June, 1902, the Charlotte team of the North Carolina league made a run of twenty-five consecutive victories, but later in the same year the Corsicana club of the Texas league surpassed this with twenty-seven consecutive victories, which stands today as the world's record for modern organized ball.

The Chicago Americans recently won nineteen straight games, the American league record.

The National league elects its president from year to year. In this way it creates an annual interest for the executive, which is a big handicap for a man supposed to be mapping out future benefits for the organization.

The American league has wisely elected Ban Johnson to serve a term of years, giving him a chance to build up his organization with little to worry over outside of the ups and downs of the baseball business.

The attendance at a recent National league New York-Chicago series at Chicago was 72,000, an average of 18,000 a game. The series broke all records for attendance in Chicago. The Cubs won three out of the four games.

President Pallam of the National league has retained William H. Rand, Jr., formerly of the district attorney's staff, in any legal matters in which he may become involved. Mr. Rand was manager of the Harvard baseball team of 1887. Nell Sullivan of the New York National league club's legal forces played shortstop on the Harvard team of 1891.

Matthew Stanley Robison has succeeded Frank DeHaas Robison to the presidency of the St. Louis National league club. It is reported that Frank DeH. Robison is about to dispose of his holdings to G. Lacey Crawford, the St. Louis millionaire broker. Frank Robison intends making his permanent home in Cleveland, while M. S. Robison will live in St. Louis the year round and be the active head of the club.

Big Teams Get New Players

"Grabbing Season" In Baseball Is Over For the Year.

List of Men Secured by Major League Clubs--Joe Doyle.

The day for the big league managers to grab up promising new material is over for this season at least, for the best of what was left by the moguls of the American and National leagues was snatched up by those chiefs who took advantage of the opening of the drafting season on Sept. 1 to add to their teams men they could not have afforded to buy earlier in the season.

The whole recruiting field may therefore be said to be exhausted now, and it will be up to the minor leagues to replenish their teams for next season as best they can. The smaller league teams are clearing houses for the larger ones. As soon as a real star is developed in the minor leagues he is grabbed up by the major leagues, but there is always sufficient money recompense to soothe the feelings of those who suffer by the loss.

The sum total paid for all the new players acquired by the various major league clubs since the season began would represent a private fortune. Altogether over fifty men have been annexed, bringing prices varying from $10,000 to $100,000. This is the way some of the major league teams size up in the matter of new players.

New sight for shooting at night.

The development of accuracy in shooting at night has received a double impetus of late in the British service, says the South China Post.

A new sight has been adopted and is being manufactured and issued with all possible dispatch. This sight, a telescopic pattern, is defined by electric light for night work. It has been extensively tried under all conditions and has proved a signal success. Quite recently also a greatly improved, thirty-six inch searchlight has supplanted the regulation twenty-four inch light, which is capable of defining an enemy at over double the distance of its predecessor. Owing to the excellent training afforded by the gunnery branch our (British) naval gunners can now with the aid of their latest sight and searchlight depend on disabling an enemy at from 3,000 to 4,000 yards on a favorable night.

A School For Office Boys.

To train office boys in the way they should go will be the aim of an office boy school to be started this fall in Cleveland, O., by the central boys' department of the Y. M. C. A., says a correspondent of the Kansas City Times. This school for office boys will be a unique experiment and is the first one to be established in the United States. The course will consist of a thorough course in office training and instruction in all the latest business systems and methods. It is calculated not only to fit boys to become expert office boys, but to qualify them as clerks, able to handle car systems, correspondence and the detail work of any large business establishment. A model office is to be fitted up for the use of boys who enroll in the school.

REBELS NOT AWED BY BIG SQUADRON

DECLARE SHIPS CANNOT GO TO THE BUSH.

INSURGENTS STAND FIRM

Letters to Messrs. Taft and Bacon Insist Palma Government Must Resign and New Elections Must Be Held.

Havana, Sept. 22.—Peace for Cuba, unless accomplished through American intervention, seems to be further away than when Secretary of War Taft and Assistant Secretary of State Bacon began negotiations to harmonize the opposing factions.

The arrival here Friday of three of the largest United States battleships and two cruisers, in addition to those already here, has little effect on the insurgents in the field, and when the leaders of the revolution were apprised of the big squadron now in Cuban waters they greeted the information with Spanish expressions to the effect that "they cannot come to the bush."

Moderates Willing to Yield.

A meeting of the executive committee of the moderate party was hastily summoned Friday evening, and it was voted unanimously to accept whatever disposition of the controversy Messrs. Taft and Bacon may decide upon, in the hopes that such a concession would induce the liberals to yield similarly. The latter, however, have as yet not signified a willingness to accept the decision of the American mediators.

Rumors of Resignations.

The rumor is abroad that President Palma, the members of his cabinet and the representatives and senators elected last December will resign, thus conceding practically all that the insurgents have been contending for, and opening a way for the settlement of the difficulty without American intervention. President Palma declined to be interviewed on the subject, and other members of the government stoutly denied the rumor.

The American peace commissioners will hear what the commanders of the insurgent forces have to say. Some of these are coming from Santa Clara, Pinar del Rio, and Havana provinces. If they persist in the demands made in their letters to Messrs. Taft and Bacon the conferences will only increase the complications.

Taft is Hopeful.

In an interview Friday Secretary Taft spoke hopefully. Although some progress had been made, he said, no definite programme had been reached. He told of the arrangement to meet representatives of the insurgents in the field and of his previous hesitancy to take this step, and said that "something might come of it."

The arguments of the leaders of both the moderates and the liberals have been submitted and translated for future reference by Messrs. Taft and Bacon, but the latter said that nothing of a definite nature had been suggested by a hurried reading of the briefs. The mediators have sifted the grievances and define them as a demand by the insurgents for new general elections and an absolute rejection of those demands on the part of the government.

Messrs. Taft and Bacon have practically abandoned hope of finding a middle ground, and fear that a decision in favor of either side would result in no more than temporary tranquillity for the island. It is their belief that American occupation is the only way to end the civil warfare, and it is not denied that intervention must be followed by American sovereignty. Secretary Taft has cabled to President Roosevelt regarding the gravity of the situation, and Mr. Roosevelt is expected to dictate the future programme of his commissioners.

Demonstration by Rebels.

A demonstration was made Friday by armed revolutionists within a mile of the scene of the peace conferences. Gen. Acosta, with 300 insurgents, encamped at La Lisa, west of Minister Morgan's villa at Marianao, and half a mile eastward were rural guards, militia and mounted police. At the insurgent camp it was said the object of the insurgents in coming so close was to show Secretary Taft how completely Havana is in their grasp.

Pho Guerra's augmented force is only a short distance away. He was advancing to encamp just outside of Marianao when the fact was called to the attention of Secretary Taft. Mr. Taft was greatly displeased and Senator Zayas and Charles Hernandez, former postmaster of Havana, were dispatched to meet Guerra, with the result that the latter turned back. He will take his command to a point ten or fifteen miles south of Havana and there await the decision of the American mediators.

Guerra's Army Well Equipped.

In addition to the Zayas party, Maj. Ladd, of the United States army, visited Guerra. As the insurgents marched he carefully counted their force and reported to Messrs. Taft and Bacon their exact strength. Guerra's army is well equipped for a long campaign and, in addition to far better mounts than the governmental forces, the insurgents have plenty of arms and ammunition, as well as several machine guns. Senator Zayas has ordered Gen. Loynaz del Castillo to move his army away from Havana.

The Young Men's Christian association has decided to erect a handsome new building seven or eight stories in height on the site of the old structure in San Francisco.

FOUND GUILTY OF PEONAGE

COURT IMPOSES PRISON TERMS AND FINES.

Charles M. Smith to Serve Three Years and Six Months and Pay $5,000 and Costs.

Cape Girardeau, Mo., Sept. 22.—The jury in the Smith case Friday returned a verdict of guilty against Charles M. Smith and Charles M. Smith, Jr., and the five tenants of their farms on the eleventh count in the peonage case.

The eleventh count of the 44 indictments refers to John Reed, the negro who was with Roosevelt in Cuba and escaped from the shack on the Smith farm by sawing his way through the floor at night. He was the strongest negro witness for the government.

Judge Krum filed a motion for a new trial. The arrival here Friday of three of the largest United States battleships and two cruisers, in addition to those already here, has little effect on the insurgents in the field, and when the leaders of the revolution were apprised of the big squadron now in Cuban waters they greeted the information with Spanish expressions to the effect that "they cannot come to the bush."

Under instructions from the court, James Smith and Rex Smith were acquitted.

The floor of the apartment collapsed, splinters injuring a mother and her child in the room below.

CROP REPORT FROM SCATTERED FIELDS

Conditions About Corn, New York; Hartford, Connecticut; and Lexington, Kentucky.

Corn, New York, Sept. 22.—The tobacco season in and around Corning has been a remarkable one in some respects. The growth has been very fair and the leaf of good spread, with enough on the stalk to insure a good acreage. Nearly all the crops have been bought at the present time and there is probably not two thousand cases left in the district. This season breaks the record for fast selling of the crop. About thirteen thousand cases of tobacco were grown in this district during the season closing. Those firms buying the tobacco were: Raliga & Co., of Elmira, 4,200 cases; American Cigar Co., 1,800 cases; Farnum and Reynolds, Addison, 2,000 cases; E. Resenwald & Bro., New York City, 1,600 cases; George M. Wood & Co., Elmira, 1,600 cases. The average price has been very good, about 13 cents a pound delivered in the bundle. Some prices were as high as 10 cents but a great quantity was sold at 12 cents and less.

Hartford, Conn., Sept. 22.—Reports of a banner crop come from the entire tobacco raising section of Connecticut. Old growers say that they cannot remember a year when there has been a season as favorable as the present one.

Commenting on the Cuban tobacco crop, the Lexington (Ky.) Leader says:

"It is an ill wind that blows nobody good, says an old saw, and while slaves of My Lady Nicotine the world over have just cause to regard the insurrection in Cuba with fear and trembling, American tobacco growers in the sunny south are likely to reap a rich profit in consequence. A moment more deadly in its effects on the rich tobacco industry could not have been chosen for the uprising. Some of the choicest tobacco in the world is raised in the Pinar del Rio province of Cuba, where the revolutionists are holding forth with an earnestness which makes it impossible for the tobacco growers to attend to the now fully ripened crop. A few days more and it will be hopelessly ruined."

"Last year's crop was short because of heavy rains in the island, which not only ruined the unharvested crop, but rendered large areas of the finest tobacco lands unfit for tillage. This fact accounted for the low prices received for the very satisfactory crops reserved for the American market. Reserve supplies were very depleted and if the present Cuba crop is not forthcoming at the proper time, prices for domestic grades are likely to go sky high. The situation is viewed with particular anxiety by cigar manufacturers and dealers, whose trade demands the tobacco that comes from the famous Vuelta Abajo district, and if the insurrection should extend to that province the results are too dire for contemplation. Very little tobacco from Cuba has been received by American manufacturers this year, and they declare that all appeals for a fresh supply are in vain."
